me: you there?
Catalina: yes whats up
me: nevermind Catalina: what?
Catalina: nevermind what?
me: oops me: sorry, thought you were Caleb me: was gonna ask, where'd you meet your roommate?
Catalina: we do look alike Catalina: i have not met her Catalina: i didnt pick her me: ah
Catalina: my roommate Ko subletted his room for the month me: very well me: I did another TV interview today Catalina: how did it go? me: now I'm playing video games with Josh's gilrfriend me: pretty well, boring crap, same old atheist questions Catalina: sounds awesome me: by some chirpy fucking reporter Catalina: im not an elizabeth fan, did i tell you that?
me: nope, why's that?
Catalina: cause shes not a fan of mine Catalina: also the lauren thing me: she didn't give that impression when I asked about you me: she said nice things about you me: anyway, she's back in SF now so doesn't matter Catalina: oh, well i dont dislike her Catalina: im just not a fan me: also spoke today with head of Maryland Film Festival, will apparently be going down there next month Catalina: why? me: missed last festival me: to interview a bunch of people for articles me: Steve Buscemi Catalina: rodent man?
me: remember that Burroughs documentary?

Catalina: no
Catalina: did we watch it?
me: we watched a few minutes of it at your place Catalina: sounds familiar but cant remember me: anyway, gonna write about that and a few other things for Rolling Stone, Buscemi is also directing a version of Queer me: so free trip to Maryland me: fucking crap state me: was supposed to go to some beach resort in Florida but missed it Catalina: where in maryland?
me: Baltimore
